PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 6 .- The actual business of the G. A. R. encampment began today at the Grand Opera House The fight for commander-in-chief continues, and each candidate still feels sore that he will land a winner. Colo nel Albert D. Shaw of Watertown, N. Y., cems to lad, with Comrade Leo Rassieur of St. Louis a good second. There was not much talk about the office of senior vice commander-in-chief, the canvass for that office being rather quiet and it is not known who will get the place. M. Minton of Kentucky will probably be named for junior vice commander, while William H. Baker of Massachusetts seems to have the call for surgeon general-in-chief. The contest among the cities for the holding of next year's encampment has narrowed down to Chicago and Salt Lake City. It is practically conceded that Chicago will be the winner.

The committee on pensions of the na tional encampment met Tuesday and completed the report, around which the debate of the sessions is likely to center. It is said that, while the committee will suggest certain changes in the laws that now seem to be equivocal, and will cite instances of hardships that have come as a result of the interpretation of the law, it will not join in the denunci ation of the pension commissioner, H.

During the parade Tuesday, from the fronts of the buildings to the curb the people were packed in a solid mass and even breathing was difficult. As a result of the crush about 400 men, women and children were overcome and taken from the crowd to various

The visit of the president to the squad-ron proved to be the greatest marine spectacle ever seen here. It was the intention to have Mr. McKinley visit only the New York, but he grew so enstic over the great fighters that he suddenly made up his mind to inspect all of them. Accordingly he visited the flagship New York, cruiser Brooklyn and the battleships Indiana, Massachusetts and Texas. It was his intention to also visit the cruiser De troit, but much to his regret he Friday to attend the meeting of the guns during the one and three-quarter hours that it took to inspect the vessels In all, 462 guns were fired by the squad-ron in president's salutes. On the New York and Indiana the men acted as they do in battle. The president was much The return of the president to the shore was an inspiring one. The Texas was moored furthest up the river, and the presidential party had to pass each of the great vessels on its return to shore. The river was alive with craft shore. The river was alive with craft crowded to their utmost capacity and a great noise was being made. As the arge neared the flagship the signa was given to salute, and six big ships elched forth a terrific salute. Every man and officer on the ships stood at tention and the bands added to the din by playing "Hail to the Chief." The barge was stopped while the salute was being fired, and after it had ceased the 12 brawny sailors pulled for the shore. A noticeable feature of the visit to the fleet was the president's cordial greeting of the men on each ship. He never once forgot the "boys, owed to them upon boarding and leav-

Enthusiasm was rampant last night. Wherever President McKinley appeared he received a tremendous ovation, particularly at the Academy of Music where the Grand Army was officially releamed to the city and state by Mayor Ashbridge and Governor Stone General Sickles was already seated when the president arrived, accompanied by Secretaries Root and Wilson When President McKinley observed the veteran he walked toward him and Lieneral Sickles arose from his seat. To the Citizens of Akron.

Akron's Free Carnival and Street Fair, in magnitude and magnificence never before approached by any similar project, will be celebrated in our City on Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, September 13, 14, 15 and 16.

That it will be a great and upprecedented success is no longer a question, and for the assistance and unselfish disinterestedness with which the great mass of our citizens have helped those charged with the details of the work your committee returns sincere thanks. At first, not realizing the magnitude and unselfish purpose of the project, there were some who were inclined to regard the undertaking askance, but now those who are refusing their assistance to bring it to a successful termination, making it, in every way, a credit and honor to our most progressive, pushing and enterprising city, are few and far between, and their number is decreasing daily.

Inasmuch as the project will be in fact what its name implies-a Free Carnival and Street Fair, the working committees have had to depend almost wholly and exclusively on voluntary subscriptions to defray the expenses which necessarily had to be incurred. There will be no revenue of any sort taxed upon our visitors that will benefit the management, or any person whatsoever directly. The indirect benefit, however, which will be derived by every citizen in various ways, because of the influx of thousands of strangers within our gates during the few days of exhibitions and entertainments will be great.

The funds necessary to defray the expenses are nearly all raised. A small amount, however, yet remains to be secured. Your committee's solicitors are still at work to obtain this balance, and if you have not yet performed your duty in making a donation, large or small, as your circumstances and the benefits you will derive will permit, they will be glad to call on you for the purpose of receiving the same; or, a telephone message to our secretary, H. L. Synder, where office is located in the Everett building, will receive prompt attention. If you have been overlooked in this matter it was entirely unintentional, and the oversight will be rectified with pleasure.

In conclusion your committee desires to state that this Free Carnival and Street Fair is an affair OF THE PEOPLE, FOR THE WHOLE PEOPLE, FOR EVERY CITIZEN OF AKRON. Nobody in particular will be benefited over others. All will share alike in the advantages. We bespeak for the project a continuance and expansion of the good work and good will which have overcome all obstacles so far, and which will eventually enable us to give an entertainment that will cause the tongues of thousands of pleased visitors from all points of the surrounding country to sing the glories and praises of Akron as a good place

Let there be no lagging. Additional vim, vigor and hustle must and shall characterize our efforts for the next two weeks and the result will redound to the everlasting good name and fame of Akron.

On the days of the Fair the whole City should appear in holiday attire; every house and lawn should be placed in its most attractive condition; flags and bunting should be displayed. Invite your friends to come to the City and witness, free of charge to them, the performances and attractions on the public streets of Akron, which have never elsewhere been offered free and every one of which will be worth the trip to our City. The daily program has been published so that every one may know just when and where the performances and exhibitions will take place.

For the last time and in behalf of every home of this city, we ask that your liberality and efforts be put forth to the utmost to make the event one long to be remembered, and one which will carry Akron's good name and fame as a hostess into the hearts and homes of thousands in all the nooks and corners of this portion of the state.

APPEALED TO RULERS.

Labori Sent Telegrams to William and Humbert.

the French Government Also to Ask That Schwartzkoppen and Panizzardi Be Allowed to Appear as Witnesser Ex-Minister Testified For Dreyfus.

RENES, France, Sept. 5 .- M. Labori telegraphed personal appeals to Emperor William and King Humbert to grant permission to Colonel Schwartzkoppen and Colonel Panizzardi, Genman and Italian military attaches in Paris in 1894, to come to Rennes to testify in the trial of Captain Dreyfus. The appeals were couched in elo quent terms, invoking the assistance of their majesties in the name of justice underhand plotting by some one opbeir majesties in the name of justice and humanity. They are quite supplementary to the formal application that will be made by the government com-missary, Major Carriere. Both Schwartzkoppen and Panizzardi must consult their respective sovereigns before starting, but the counsel for Dreyfus fully expect them to arrive here, if they come at all, in time to give their testimony on Thursday, in which case the trial would probably conclude this week and the verdict be delivered on Friday or Saturday. RENNES, France, Sept. 6 .- The judge in the Drevfus courtmartial deliberated over the application of M. Labori for an order upon the government commissary to request the French government to invite foreign governments to supply documents enumerated in the bordercan. It was unanimously decided to reject the application of M. Labori on the ground that the court did not consider itself competent to pronounce a judgment which might entail diplomatic action by the government.

It was also decided unanimously to examine M. de Cernuschi, the Austro-Hungarian refugee, today behind closed In view of the rejection by the court-martial of M. Labori's motion, the defense intend to issue subpoenas to Colonels Schwartzkoppon and Panizzardi. The subpoenas will be trans-mitted by the courtmartial, through the minister of war, the minister of justice and the minister of foreign affairs, suc cessvely, and thence through the French ambassadors at Berlin and Rome. Colonels Schwartzkoppen and Paniz-zardi can elect whether they shall ap-pear before the courtmartial or make depositions before magistrates in their respective countries, in which latter case the depositions will be transmitted as evidence to the courtmartial through diplomatic channels. This probably means at least weeks of delay. The examination of the secret espion age dossier mentioned by Captain Onig-net during Monday's sitting of the courtmartial occupied the greater part of the secret session of the court. The first witness who was called to the bar was the reporter, Bassett, whom The Matin sent to London to interview Majer Count Ferdinand Walzin Est hazy. The witness deposed that Ester bazy confessed to him that he wrote the bordereau under orders from Colonel Sandherr, who was then chief of the secr. t intelligence bureau. The order. Esterhazy said, was to catch the traitor at the headquarters of the general staff whom Esterhazy afterward said was Captain Dreyfus.

Major Carriere here burst out with an extraordinary protest against Major Esterhazy's insinuation against Colonel Sandnerr.

"I protest," he cried, "in the name and memory of Colonel Sandherr, against the insinuations introduced against him. M. Labori, however, ignored this protest, which he styled "a ridiculous pre-M. Labori then called upon General Royet to testify regarding letters received from Major Esterhazy since the opening of this trial. He replied that he only opened one letter from Major Esterhazy, which he forwarded to Colonel Jouaust. General Roget added that he had declined to receive other letters. M. Labori then asked Colonel Jouaust to have the letters read. Colonel Jouanst at first declined, but M. Labori insisted so firmly that Colonel youaust, after wrangling a while, gave way and consented that the letter should be read later. General Roget then read the one Es-ternazy letter which he admitted havng opened. In this letter Major Ester hazy said he could not prove the exist-ence of the alleged syndicate organized in the interest of Dreyfus, and com-plained that the general staff had refused to give him a fair hearing.

M. Labort then put a series of questions intended to bring out the fact that the general staff had made use of Major -t-rhazy even after he was known to be unreliable. eneral Roget said he had not consid ered Major Esterhazy's avowals to be of

M. Labori sought to question General Roget more closely on his statement that none of the generals of the general staff had any relations with Major Es terhazy, but Colonel Jouanst decl to allow further discussion. This led to mother scene between the president the courtmartial and counsel for the defense, M Labori declaring that General Roger, who came here more as public prosecutor than as a witness, refused to reply to probing questions.

A little later M. Labori pushed the question on General Billot on what is known as the liberating document, which, it is alleged, freed Esterhazy. General Zurlinden spoke a few words respecting the general staff's belief in Major Esterhazy. General Roget, in answer to a remark

w M. Demange, said he thought Estera v innocent of treason.

General Roget then delivered a short discourse in reply to the statement of M de Fond Lamotte on Saturday that the phrase in the bordereau, "I am going to the manoeuvers," showed that Dreyfus could not be the author of the bordereau. General Roget maintained that M. Lamotte was wrong. Captain Dreyfus arose and in a clear voice emphatically insisted that the cir-cular of May 17, 1894, announcing that the probationers would not go to the manoeuvers was written in the clearest anguage, which the court would see if It were read. He seiterated that he had never asked to go to the manoeuvers, for he was absolutely convinced that such a request would not be granted.

M. Deffes, a reporter for The Temps, testified that he saw Esterhazy in Lon-tion, and that the latter confessed that he was the author of the bordereau. The witness added that he raised the question of the letters of Madame Boulunc and brought away the impression that Esterhazy wrote the "Uhlan" let-

It stands the highest for to convince the witness that Drevfus was guilty. The witness' doubts were confirmed when he heard that M. Scheurer-Kestner had secured proofs of the innocence of Dreyfus and the guilt of another. M. Trarieux said he could not agree to a single conclusion reached by General Gouse m his correspondence with Lieutepant Colonel Picquart, and said the latter's cemoval from the secret inposed to revision. The witness enum-erated in support of this statement vari-ous forged documents which, he as-serted, had emanated from the secret intelligence department. He said he assumed the chiefs were decieved. M. Trarieux pointed out that if any proof wnatsoever of the guilt of Drey-fus existed in 1896 General Gonse would an order to stop the investigation. Kestner, the witness said, he became convinced of the guilt or Esterbazy.

M. Traricux mentioned an interview he had with a foreign ambassador, who declared that Dreyfus never had relations with him nor with any military attache or officer of the army of his country. M. Trarieux asserted the importance of this statement of the ambasdor, who energetically reaffirmed the absolute innocence of Dreyfus. The ambassador added that he had investigated and found nothing to implicate Further, the ambassador said, he had seen in the hands of Colonel Panizzardi a letter from Colonel Schwartz koppen proving the guilt of Esterhazy. who, his excellency added, generally communicated information of minor value. Moreover, at the time of M. Scheurer-Kestner's revelations Major Esterhazy called upon Colonel Schwartzkoppen, and it was then that a dramatic scene of violent recriminations and threats occurred. The ambassador also showed the witness that the "Cette Canaille de D-" phrase did not apply to

"It may be said that I should not ad-duce here the evidence of a foreigner. That is M. Cavignac's opinion, and I do not oppose it, but it has no foundation either in fact or in law. The testimony of foreigners is not disallowed by law."
He said Colonel Panizżardi was cited to appear in a case of swindling at Versailles, and a foreign witness had been examined the day before. Even the su-preme head of the army, the gallant soldier De Galliffet, had not shrunk from adducing before the court of cas sation the testimony of General Talbot. THE BLOCKADE OF LUZON.

Way to Shut Off Rebels' Sources of Sun pites and Ammunition Causing

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6 .- The matter of making an effective blockade in the Philippines, and especially around the island of Luzon, so as to prevent the insurgents from obtaining ammunition and supplies, is one that is giving the administration considerable concern. It has not been dedined feasible to proclaim a blockade, as it would indicate a state of war and possibly open a way to the recognition of the incurgents.

Whether or not it is feasible to attack, subdue and garrison all the ports of Luzon which reight serve as ports of supply for the Filipinos has not yet been etermined.
The president has been advised that he navy should be utilized. At every port a mival vessel could be stationed, and under the military law of the island every incoming vessel could be made to exhibit its manifest. One trouble about carrying out this dan is the fact that there is not a sufficient number of light draught vessels to go into all the places where the Fili-pinos can receive their supplies.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6 .- Dates have been set for the departure of ments of volunteers for the Philippines.

Kennon, will sail on Sept. 8, on the Co-lumbia, the remainder of the regiment on Sept. 15, on the Belgian King. The Thirty-first, Colonel Pettit, will sail on the 15th on the Sherman, and the Twenty-seventh, Colonel Bell, will sail

MANILA, Sept. 6 .- Lieutenant Batson of the Fourth cavalry organized a band of 100 Macabebe scouts, who will operate under the direction of Major eral Lawton. All of them were former formed and will be armed with Krag-Jorgenson rifles. The Macabebes will have a flagraising and barbecue on Fri-

Bentheim's Story Doubted Washington, Sept. 6.—Department officials were inclined to doubt the story of Albert Bentheim, at Atlanta, that a United States vice consul in Germany is acting as an agent to convey war secrets from France to Germany. How-ever, they may investigate it. The German embassy apparently treated the story lightly. Industrial Commission Resumed Washington, Sept. 6 .- The industrial commission reconvened, but heard no The commission decided to authorize the attendance of Prof. Jenks and one member of each of its sub-comsions at the trust conference of the civic federation to be held in Chicago, beginning on the 13th instant. Mr. Rocke-feller has informed the commission that it will be impossible for him to be in atteudance upon the commission during P. C. Boyle, editor of the Oil City Derrick, and B. A. Matthews, manager of the Standard Oil company at Columbus, will be heard today. Famine and Starvation Threatened BOMBAY, Sept. 6 .- Lord Sandhurst, governor of Bombay, in the course of a speech at Poona said the plague was
